

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PREFACE

Marc Richmond LeBel, OMD, HMD, CAi

FOREWORD

Abridged translation from the original French edition

Dr. Pierre Magnin, Professor Emeritus, Honorary Dean of the Universities of Besançon, Strasbourg and Versailles Schools of Medicine.v

PREAMBLE

The Place of Auriculomedicine in the World....vii

CHAPTER 1

The Evolution of Auriculomedicine.....1

- 1.1 Dr. Paul Nogier's discovery1
- 1.2 Avicenna's clinical experience3
- 1.3 What René Leriche observed.....3
- 1.4 The development of Auriculomedicine4

CHAPTER 2

The Circulatory Autonomic Response (R.A.C.) .9

- 2.1 The original description.....9
- 2.2 Processing sensory messages: key concepts..9
- 2.3 What the VAS is not. It is a response.11
- 2.4 Manual recognition of the VAS13
- 2.5 Instrumental recognition of the VAS31
- 2.6 Manual recognition of the VAS: a summary35

CHAPTER 3

General Concepts and Laws37

- 3.1 The main principles of experimental medicine37
- 3.2 How reflexive therapies work.....38
- 3.3 The main principles of Auriculomedicine ...41
- 3.4 Individual responses42
- 3.5 Black and White44
- 3.6 The makeup of the nervous system45
- 3.7 A study of the types of metabolism and energetics47
- 3.8 Tracking down pathology. Treating the effect or the cause of the effect?50
- 3.9 The Frontal Empty Ring (FER)56
- 3.10 Stimulation: the key principles57

CHAPTER 4

The Effects of Mechanical Stimulation

on the Skin59

- 4.1 Mechanical receptors59
- 4.2 Finger pressure60
- 4.3 Punctual pressure. The three layers61
- 4.4 Auricular Palpation.....65

CHAPTER 5

The Effect of Continuous Light Stimulation

on the Skin67

- 5.1 Experiments on rabbits67
- 5.2 White light69
- 5.3 Polarized lights70
- 5.4 Kodak Wratten color filters The Color Program (CP).....75
- 5.5 Reactions to chromatic lights79
- 5.6 Superimposed chromatic filters81
- 5.7 The Photogram81
- 5.8 Sequential Phototonic Therapy82

CHAPTER 6

The Effect of Frequential Stimulations on the Skin85

- 6.1 Intermittent light. Nogier's frequencies.....85
- 6.2 Topographical descriptions of the various..... body and auricular dermal zones classified according to their reactions to frequencies..86
- 6.3 Frequency generators.....94
- 6.4 Parasite Frequencies96
- 6.5 The Frequency Sequence.....97
- 6.6 The Central Reaction test. Reactivity98
- 6.7 Deviated Frequencies. The Passing Band test.100
- 6.8 The frequencies of the flickering detector (DB-165®)104
- 6.9 Rhythmic Photonictherapy106

CHAPTER 7

The Effect of Subliminal Stimulations109

- 7.1 Isolated adrenaline and acetylcholine.....110
- 7.2 Paired adrenaline and acetylcholine112
- 7.3 The reactive side of chemical and biological products112
- 7.4 Various types of products that can be tested .114
- 7.5 Test filters115
- 7.6 How test rings are thought to work115
- 7.7 Paired Data116
- 7.8 Research tracks116

CHAPTER 8

Analyzing Data Transmission	119
8.1 Transferring white light	119
8.2 The auricular border zones	121
8.3 Excluded somatic zones	122
8.4 Color Program and frequency transfers.....	122
8.5 Transferring substances within test-rings	123
8.6 Sagittal Channels	123
8.7 Sagittal Relay Sensors	124
8.8 The principles of data circulation	124

CHAPTER 9

The Subliminal Study of Physical Forces	127
9.1 Electrical data	128
9.2 Magnetic data.....	129
9.3 Radioactive data.....	133
9.4 Gravitational Data.....	134

CHAPTER 10

Examining the Patient	137
10.1 Various types of pathologies	137
10.2 New medical knowledge.....	138
10.3 Diagnosing	139
10.4 Identifying obstacles to effective therapy	140
10.5 Specific therapeutics	141
10.6 Acupuncture indications recognized in France in 2005	144

CHAPTER 11

Protocols and Procedures Relative to the Main	Techniques in Auriculomedicine.....	145
11.1 Accurate VAS perception.....		145
11.2 Oscillation reaction to filter 25/44/58		146
11.3 Point detection with either tip of the Black & White Detector®.....		147
11.4 Metabolic assessment		149
11.5 Reactions to pressure		150
11.6 Reactions to white light		151
11.7 Reactions to polarized light		152
11.8 Reactions to chromatic light		153
11.9 Frequency 24		156
11.10 The Phases		157
11.11 Reactions to the Nogier Frequencies		158
11.12 Reactions to frequencies of the hemibodies		160
11.13 Reactions to substances		161
11.14 The Sagittal Channels		162

CHAPTER 12

The Study of Terrain and Obstacles in Auriculomedicine	163
12.1 The concept of terrain in medicine	163
12.2 Various stages of a consultation in Auriculomedicine	164
12.3 Classic obstacles	166
12.4 Localized Autonomic Nervous System (ANS) disorders.....	170
12.5 Blockages detectable by Auriculomedicine	175
12.6 Conclusion	179

CHAPTER 13

Approaches to Pathologies	181
13.1 An assessment of acupuncture.....	181
13.2 Auriculomedicine: testing possibilities in assessing all conditions.....	181
13.3 Acute pain	182
13.4 Chronic pain.....	182
13.5 Acute anxious or depressive disorders	183
13.6 Chronic anxious or depressive disorders	183
13.7 Acute allergic rhinitis.....	184
13.8 Chronic allergic rhinitis	185
13.9 Smoking cessation	185

CHAPTER 14

Medicine, Auriculomedicine and the Future of Paul Nogier's Visionary Work
Dr. Pierre Magnin.....	187

EPILOGUE

Yves Rouxeville, MD.....	191
--------------------------	-----

EDITOR'S APPENDIX

Auriculotherapy and Auriculomedicine Devices Invented by Dr. Paul Nogier and Currently Used in Practice.....	195
---	-----

REFERENCES	197
-------------------------	------------

INDEX.....	201
-------------------	------------